

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS?

Lads Injured On Hallowe'en Still In Hospital

At St. Joseph's Hospital, 13-year-old Larry Todd, left, and 14-year-old Ron Steele are getting to be bosom pals. They've been occupying a second-floor room at the hospital ever since Hallowe'en when both were brought in seriously burned in firecracker mishaps. Larry and Ron were strangers to one another the night they arrived at the hospital with severe leg burns, but in the long weeks since then they've become real chums. "All we hope now is that we'll get out before Christmas," says Larry, the more seriously burned of the two, who will undergo skin grafting on his left thigh this week. "Ditto," said Ron. Hospital officials say it is more than likely they will. Both lads say "we've learned our lesson" about firecrackers. Larry, who lives at 980 Jasmine Avenue, was burned when a cluster of "crackers and 'bombs' in his left pocket exploded. Ron had several "bombs" in his right trousers pocket when they caught fire. The youths arrived at the hospital within an hour of one another. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett).

ACHESON, MOCH PLEAD PEACE CASE BEFORE U.N.

PARIS, Nov. 19 (UP).—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson warned the United Nations today that world tension has reached a "dangerous point" and offered the west's step-by-step disarmament program as a way back to peace. Jules Moch of France, with Britain and the U.S. a co-sponsor of the disarmament plan, also pleaded for its adoption so that "the atom bomb won't boom anywhere—and, I mean anywhere—in the world."

200,000 Homeless Left In Wake Of Rampaging Po

ROVIGO, Italy, Nov. 19 (AP).—The home of Romeo and Juliet—Verona—and Mantua today fell under the menace of Italy's rampaging flood with the collapse of a quarter-mile section of the northern bank of Bianco canal. The break, which has doubled in size since Sunday, was only one more new calamity in the desolated Po delta, where nearly 200,000 persons have been made homeless.

A fierce storm-driven rain in some parts of the vast area added to sufferings of thousands of isolated, hungry, threatened persons. It also added to the floods, which in the last 10 days have brought death to more than 100 north-Italians.

Rovigo, the provincial capital, was a deserted city. A fleet of small boats was rushed to Adria, where 20,000 of the 35,000 population were marooned after ignoring earlier warnings. During the week-end the waters covered the city and today they rose in many places to second-storey level.

The canal break was 40 miles from Verona, a city of 170,000, made famous by Shakespeare's play. An official said the collapse of the canal bank was a "major threat which directly menaces even Verona and Mantua."

YOGA LESSON

Swami Says Philosophy 'Scientific'

Times staffer Humphrey Davy taking his second lesson in Yoga from itinerant Swami Shivanand, has submitted the following summary of today's lecture.

By HUMPHREY DAVY

What is Yoga? Well, our Swami first debunked the idea that it is a mystery or magic.

"Yoga is a science and philosophy of life," he said. "It is based entirely on logic and reason."

Sitting among a group of old and young people listening to Swami Shivanand, I felt that if more people heard this young disciple they would have a better understanding of the East and its people.

I felt, like the majority of people there, that the East was far in advance of the West in the study of philosophy, and in this sphere they had a lot to offer us.

"Any philosophy that is founded on blind faith is false," he added. He explained that Yoga claims its origin from the Sanskrit language and means "union."

"Union of what? The answer is... in the scientific sense, union of matter and mind; and in the philosophical sense, union of man with super-man."

He also spoke on the code and ethics of Yoga. Several members of the audience were surprised that they did not differ from the Christian philosophy.

(At tomorrow's session Davy expects to learn something of the "union of matter and mind.")

Reds Reply On Wednesday To Allied Peace Proposal

Granted Recess Through Tuesday For Further Study Of Plan; Communist Attacks Held Off

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 19 (AP).—Communist cease-fire delegates today promised to give their over-all reply Wednesday to an Allied proposal for an armistice in 30 days in Korea.

At the close of a 14-hour session at Panmunjom, they asked and received a recess through Tuesday. They wanted to study a plan keyed to a truce line which courses up to more than 25 miles north of Parallel 38.

The Reds apparently want to refer the matter to Peking—where Red China's foreign minister, Chou En-Lai, today issued a statement backing up a Russian proposal that Parallel 38 be the line of demarcation for divided Korea.

Chinese Red Gen. Isiah Fang of the Communist delegation said the Reds, after studying the plan, would come back Wednesday with the over-all reply. The hour of the next meeting will be 11 a.m.

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 19 (AP).—Chinese Communists counter-attacked in central Korea today but couldn't budge a dug-in Allied division which has smashed them back three miles in a two-day line-straightening offensive.

British forces beat off a 12-hour Communist attack on the western end of the battle line. A pair of daring American Sabre jet pilots Sunday shot up eight Red Mig-15 jets on the ground at an air base in northwestern Korea—the first time enemy jets have been caught on the ground. Seven other Migs were reported hit in three air battles.

C.A.A. investigators looked over the wreckage and talked with witnesses Sunday in preparation for filing a report on the crash.

Overseas National Airlines, operating company of the plane that crashed, and California Eastern Airways began separate investigations of their own Sunday.

Fear Aircraft Flying 'Blind'

OAKLAND, Calif., Nov. 19 (UP).—Authorities investigating the crash of two Korean airlift planes in which three persons died said today that both planes probably were flying "blind."

They refused, however, to disclose any other details they had learned from their investigation.

Eighteen witnesses on the ground narrowly escaped death when one of the C-54's, the "June S," spun out of control 3,000 feet to crash at the Oakland Airport Saturday.

The other airliner, a portion of its tail assembly sheared off, flew 12 miles across the bay to San Francisco International Airport, where Capt. Ralph Shope made an emergency landing.

C.A.A. investigators looked over the wreckage and talked with witnesses Sunday in preparation for filing a report on the crash.

Cut In Council Size To Get New Hearing

BULLET THROUGH HEAD, DYING SAILOR SPEAKS

A young sailor died here today, 31 hours after a bullet had gone completely through his head. Charles W. Tidy, R.C.N., 20, of 1124 Yates, died in Jubilee Hospital at 9:15 this morning, where he had hovered between life and death since he was found at 2:05 Sunday morning. A pistol bullet entered his right temple and came out the left side of his head.

He was conscious when found, and answered police questions. The man was discovered by Louis Impey of the Yates Street address. City police found a .32 pistol under Tidy after they had lifted him onto the stretcher.

Police reports do not indicate foul play.

ATROCITY FIGURES UNDERGO REVISION

Ridgway's Staff Engaged In Analyzing Controversial Release Of P.O.W. Killings

TOKYO, Nov. 19 (UP).—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's staff was reported revising downward today an Eighth Army report that the Communists have murdered 13,400 United Nations' war-prisoners, including 6,270 Americans.

The revised report was expected to be sent to Washington for approval before being released. Official sources said the original statement was based in part on "unscientific" evidence.

"It has not been decided whether the new report will be released here or in Washington, or at both points simultaneously," a spokesman for Ridgway's supreme headquarters said.

The controversial Eighth Army statement on mass Communist atrocities was released last Wednesday by Col. James M. Hanley, the Eighth Army's chief war crimes investigator, without giving either his headquarters or that of Ridgway any advance notice.

Ridgway formally confirmed on Saturday that the Communists had committed mass atrocities against U.N. prisoners, but expressed regret at the way in which Hanley had made his report public. Ridgway mentioned no figures.

Hanley flew to Tokyo from his office at Pusan, provincial capital of South Korea, on Sunday. He said he came here on a "routine visit" and denied he had been "gagged" by supreme headquarters. He said he would return to Pusan in a few days.

Although reluctant to discuss Communist atrocities further, Hanley said Red troops murdered U.N. prisoners only on order from higher authorities.

"Individuals in any army may commit an atrocity under battle conditions or because they are bad individuals, but our enemy does it on order," he said.

He said Communist troops were well disciplined. He said he had no evidence of Communist atrocities in prisoner of war camps. The evidence showed that the murdered prisoners had been slain before they reached the camps, he said.

Hanley defended his release of the atrocity statement. He said he still thought that it necessary and appropriate to release the figures to offset what he called "diabolically clever" Communist propaganda.

He said the Reds treated prisoners according to their propaganda value. The Communists gave some prisoners special treatment and released them as a propaganda stunt to lure other soldiers into surrendering, he said.

A report from the western front, delayed by censorship, disclosed that the Reds released a wounded British soldier only three days ago.

Santa Claus—that is the department store variety—has come to town. And so has his little helper, Rudolph, the Red-nosed Reindeer. For don't look now, but its only five weeks to Christmas. For Rudolph's adventures in preparing for the 1951 holiday season see Page 20.

B.C. Saving Thousands By Efficiency Survey

Civil Service Economies Effected Despite Continuing Wage Increases

Efficiency surveys in the provincial civil service already have saved the British Columbia treasury about $285,000.

Sum of $85,000 was saved, according to an announcement earlier this year, when efficiency experts combed through the motor vehicle branch.

Now, Provincial Secretary W. T. Straith discloses that the "continuing survey" has saved about another $200,000, and it may be more before the end of the fiscal year.

The survey was started last summer after civil servants were awarded a pay boost. It was ordered because of allegations that the civil service was over-staffed. The civil service commission is conducting the survey with Stevenson and Kellogg, management engineers.

Many positions vacated because of retirement or the fact that civil servants have left their jobs are not being filled. Also, consolidation of some positions has resulted from the survey.

The service has an annual staff turnover of about 1,500, providing many vacancies for employees in jobs deemed unnecessary. Because of this no large lay-offs of workers is contemplated.

DeMara said his son went to high school in Lawrence but quit at age 14 to enter a Rhode Island monastery. He stayed there one year and then returned home.

"We just didn't seem to exist in his world," said the father. From the navy's point of view the mystery doctor is simply a man who got allegedly into the service under false pretenses and who must, therefore, be discharged.

Macmillan Will Repeat Call For Citizen Vote

Victoria aldermen will be asked to vote on a referendum to reduce size of City Council from 10 to eight at their first night meeting Tuesday.

Ald. Robert Macmillan today filed a notice of motion calling for reduction and asking that the solicitor be instructed to draw up a by-law to give citizens an opportunity to vote on the issue at the Dec. 13 civic election.

He said his motion was in the spirit of compromise. A motion two weeks ago failed by an 8-2 vote. Ald. Aubrey Kent said he favored reduction to eight but wanted council to decide first and have a set figure placed in the by-law. The original motion carried no figure, and Ald. Waldo Skillings was Macmillan's sole support.

"I will ask for a recorded vote," Macmillan said. A mayoral candidate, Ald. Kent told an election meeting last week he would favor reduction to eight. Ald. J. D. Hunter, another mayoral candidate said he was opposed to a reduced council at the present time but later added: "I don't think it will be very long before we have one."

Third mayoral candidate Claude Harrison calls for council reduction in his platform. The first night meeting in a series of three, on a once-a-month basis, will get under way at 8 p.m. in council chamber on the second floor of City Hall.

Ald. Macmillan and Ald. Milard Mooney urged the trial to allow people who have to work all day, an opportunity to see council in action. Regular council meeting time is 2 in the afternoon.

In the preamble to his motion on council reduction, Ald. Macmillan referred to increased efficiency and reduced costs. He added that time now spent by aldermen could be considerably reduced through "modernization and streamlining of the present committee system, along with a reduction of elected representatives."

B.C. Market 'Deserves' First Gas

CALGARY, Nov. 19.—A claim that British Columbia and the Pacific northwest should be given a natural-gas pipeline in preference to one to the eastern markets was made today by A. E. Grauer, president of B.C. Electric.

Grauer was representing big gas users in the states of Washington and Oregon as well as his own company in giving evidence before the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board.

He told the board that the proposal to Ontario and the east was premature.

"The present gas reserves in Alberta make it unlikely that a sufficient exportable surplus exists at this stage to accommodate the requirements of gas for east and west," he said.

Mr. Grauer continued that the Pacific Coast was the nearer and more economic market, and that subsequent gas discoveries in Saskatchewan and Manitoba might make those fields more suitable for export of gas to the east.

"The economies of Alberta and British Columbia are complementary to one another and the development of either is a benefit to the other," he said. "As the population in B.C. increases so will the preferred market of the Alberta farmer and manufacturer increase."

He also told the board that the Pacific's case for an oil line was also a strong one. At present all oil consumed in the Pacific Northwest comes by sea, which in time of war would be a vulnerable procedure.

See "Seattle Signs Up for Natural Gas," page 17.

Brought Back To Face Trial

Albert Fairweather, 27-year-old Vancouver logger, was returned to the island today to face a charge of murder.

R.C.M.P. headquarters said Fairweather will probably appear in Duncan court Tuesday on a charge of murdering Raymond Boyce, 24, a fellow logger, on the evening of Sept. 19 on the Island Highway about six miles north of Duncan.

Boyce died in King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan, from an abdominal knife wound seven days after a quarrel and fight with Fairweather, police said.

Fairweather eluded police for 46 days, but was finally picked up in an Edmonton hospital when he required an operation for an old abdominal wound.

Fairweather was brought from Edmonton to Vancouver by train under police escort, and to Nanaimo by boat.

WHEAT PRICE NAMED BY HOWE

OTTAWA, Nov. 19 (CP).—Trade Minister Howe announced today the final average payment on the 1950-51 Prairie wheat crop will be 28.65 cents a bushel.

Princess Elizabeth At Home Tells Of Canada's Greatness, Bright Future

LONDON, Nov. 19 (CP).—Following is text of Princess Elizabeth's speech at the Guildhall "welcome home" reception today:

My Lord Mayor: I must first thank you and all your guests for the way in which you have honored this toast, so kindly proposed by the Prime Minister.

I am very grateful for the opportunity which you have given me of expressing something of what I feel on our return from our visit to Canada. I am happy to be back in England and glad to be in this historic and beloved city which I have known all my life.

But my heart, too, is very full of another country: a country which is on its way to being one of the greatest in the world, and from which my husband and I have just received a welcome, a generosity and a hospitality which we shall remember all our lives. Before we left Newfoundland I was able, in a broadcast, to give my thanks for this welcome to the people of Canada. I would like them to know (once again) that they have placed in our hearts a love for their country and its people which will never grow cold and which will always draw us back again to their shores.

Wherever we went I was deeply touched to find an affectionate concern for the health of my father, and, as you will realize, my Lord Mayor, it made me very happy to be able to give in return news that was always good. And I was proud to find in the great welcome given to us by millions of men, women and children, a strong and abiding loyalty to the King and Queen, whose visit to Canada 12 years ago remains a treasured memory with the Canadian people.

I feel sure that there are few of you in this great gathering today who have not in the past few weeks, been kept in touch with the news of our journey through the able and comprehensive reports of the press and radio, so I will only say that in the thousands of miles we have traveled twice across that broad continent, we saw many aspects of Canada and Canadian life, from the industrial areas to the agricultural lands. Unfortunately we could not go further north into those regions where the pioneer spirit is still in the ascendant and where vast natural treasures are only now beginning to be developed, but we heard a great deal about them and they excited our imaginations.

Although there was, of course, much that we did not see, I think we saw enough to realize something of Canada's present greatness and the even greater future that she can, and will, attain.

We also had the pleasure during our tour of spending three days as guests of the President of the United States in Washington. On this visit we passed across what is surely one of the miracles of the world today: that vast 4,000-mile frontier without a single gun pointed in fear on either side.

Canada is, indeed, a land where enterprise can flourish and where industry will be rewarded, a land that deserves people of sterling quality. I hope that people from the United Kingdom will continue to go out as they have in the past to make their life beside the fine men and women who form the nation of Canada as it is today.

I am sure that nowhere under the sun could one find a land more full of hope, of happiness, and of fine, loyal, generous-hearted people.

I do not believe one can return from Canada without a new sense of faith in the progress of mankind. For none of the doubts, disillusion or difficulties that face us on this troubled continent are going to hold back the Canadians. They are going to ensure for themselves the survival of all those things for which we have fought in this country through the ages and which we treasure—justice, liberty, opportunity for all, and kindness between man and man. And by so doing they are going to ensure this for others, too.

My Lord Mayor, we are indeed grateful for the welcome home you have given us today, and for this chance to give our thanks once more to the government and people of Canada. Before sitting down I ask you all to drink with me this toast. "The Lord Mayor and Corporation of London."

Mighty funny thing when it takes an international treaty to get us a drink o' California wine if we want one.

Wuz talkin' about how many members th' City Council should hev, an' a feller says, "Two heads are better'n one, but not when they're on th' same body."

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

By PHILIP LEE
Condensed from CP, AP, and UP Dispatches

OPPOSITION—In Buenos Aires, Argentina, the opposition Radical party has charged the government of President Juan D. Peron with "fraud and intimidation during the campaign" for last Sunday's presidential elections. The Radicals in a statement Saturday night did not deny the election itself. It was honest, but said the voting which returned Peron for another six-year term was not a "true reflection of the freely-expressed will" of the people.

INCOMPETENT—Journalism teachers in a number of Soviet universities are doing a poor job of preparing Soviet journalists for their work, Pravda said today. The Communist party newspaper, citing reports from White Russia, Kazakhstan and the Ural areas, said there are teachers of journalism in schools of those places who never had anything to do with newspaper work. It reported one case from Kazakhstan: A teacher in the journalism department worked on a newspaper once in his life, was fired as incompetent and took up teaching journalism.

LIVELY—In Hong Kong recordings of American songs are the latest black market hit in Communist China, informed sources reported today. Hong Kong and Macao traders are doing a lively business in the records, hatched by the Chinese Reds as "imperialistic weapons" and "luxuries." On the black market, Patti Page's "Tennessee Waltz" recording led the hit parade, selling for $19 each, with "My Foolish Heart," "My Heart Cries for You" and "Once in a While" at $7 per record.

MEMORIES—In London British motorists went back in memory to the turn of the century Sunday and chugged off on their annual "old crocks" run from London to Brighton, in a fleet of ancient autos. Seventeen of the 167 cars failed to start.

IN WASHINGTON—Oscar Collazo, one of two Puerto Rican nationalists who tried to assassinate President Truman last year, today sought reversal of his conviction for the murder of a White House policeman. Defense Attorney Leo A. Rover, who seeks a new trial, was scheduled to present oral arguments (at 10:30 a.m. EST) in Collazo's appeal at the District of Columbia U.S. Court of Appeals. The 37-year-old revolutionary was to have been executed Oct. 26, but the date was moved ahead to Feb. 1 so the appeals court could hear his appeal.

TORRENTIAL—Torrential rain during the week-end has left many areas of southern England flooded, with roads blocked and telephone and power cables cut. The River Thames had risen about eight inches since Sunday and was still rising today.

KIDNAPPED—In West Willington, Conn., the celebrated gun-chewing deer of Tolland county has been kidnapped by steak-hungry hunters. A trail of blood and signs of a struggle were all state police had to go on today as they searched for Bambl, the deer who loved three things—chewing gum, people and rides in his master's convertible. He liked to watch television, too.

IMPETUOUS—In Vancouver Archbishop Maurice Roy of the Diocese of Quebec returned to Canada by air today after a five-week tour of the Korean battle-front and the Far East. The ranking Roman Catholic prelate in Canada said here that it was time people realized that persecution of Catholics and other churchmen can happen on this Pacific coast. Archbishop Roy said that what is being done in Korea must be done with weapons, "but something must be done with ideas over here."

Cayuga Fights Korea Shore Guns

By LIEUT. A. A. V. JENKINS, R.C.N. (R)

ON BOARD H.M.C.S. CAYUGA, at a United Nations Naval Base in Japan (delayed)—This destroyer returned to port recently from what was probably one of the busiest and most eventful short patrols yet carried out by a ship of the United Nations fleet.

The Cayuga, under the command of Cmdr. James Plomer, formerly of Winnipeg and Saint John and now of Victoria, had these experiences during the patrol:

1. Bombarded Communist shore position, both by day and by night;
2. Was herself the target of uncomfortably accurate enemy fire;
3. Witnessed a dog fight between U.N. Sabres and Communist MIG's;
4. Landed medical assistance for the crew of a U.N. bomber after the aircraft had crashed-landed;
5. Saw several members of her crew have their baptism of fire in a sharp exchange between one of her mother cutters and a Red machine-gun post.

In one of her bombardments of enemy gun positions, the destroyer drove a number of Red troops into the open and continued to splash shells among them as they took to their heels. It was not possible to estimate the number of casualties but there appeared to be quite a few. Another time, with the navigating officer, Lieut. Peter Chance, of Ottawa and Halifax, hard at work, the Cayuga used radar to approach an island through a narrow channel, at night. Once in position, she illuminated her target with star-shell and followed up with a bombardment that achieved excellent results.

Later, running again into shallow water, she sent one of her motor cutters to take soundings of the channel ahead. At the same time, a second motor cutter was dispatched to have a closer look at possible Red installations ashore.

The second boat, under the charge of Lieut. Donald R. Saxon, of Yorkton and Saskatoon, Sask., and with a party of eight men aboard, moved about six miles away from the ship. Lieut. Saxon spotted some enemy gun emplacements and had just sent back a report saying no sign of life was evident when a machine gun opened up on his boat. The fire was promptly returned from a Bren gun manned by Lt. Ord. Sea. John Phillips of Mon-treah, who kept it up until the boat had got out of range.

Lieut. Saxon later had high praise for Phillips and the other members of the boat's crew, most of whom had come under direct fire for the first time and had behaved like seasoned veterans. Others in the crew were Lt. Sea. Jim Armit, Lethbridge, Alta.; AB. Dennis Pierson, Winnipeg; AB. Donald Kingdon, Blenheim, Sask.; Ord. Sea. Donald Cathcart, Regina; CPO. Frederick Bird, Vancouver; AB. John Kobayashi, Fort William, and AB. David Kelly, Roland, Man.

The Cayuga's next experience was the most exciting of the patrol. Moving to an area near Chinnampo, she nosed up a narrow channel and prepared to bombard a number of enemy positions. However, she suddenly found herself coming under fire from guns which had been mounted and concealed since her previous visits to the same area. Four ranging rounds had just been fired from the destroyer's guns at a selected target when a flash was observed from the shore. Seconds later shells splashed 200 yards off the ship.

As the enemy fire climbed toward her, the Cayuga quickly slipped her anchor and withdrew stern first at seven knots—a tricky operation in a shallow, twisting channel which was difficult enough to negotiate when going ahead.

Shells from the enemy guns straddled the destroyer but failed to score any hits, though it was estimated that about 100 rounds were fired at her. The Cayuga, in reply, fired 155 rounds and observers reported hits in the target area.

During the course of the patrol, the Cayuga received word that an American bomber had come down in enemy territory, not far from where she was operating. The destroyer proceeded to the area in the hope she might rescue the airmen. However, they managed to reach friendly territory and the Cayuga's part was limited to the provision of medical treatment for two shock cases. The other members of the plane's crew were unhurt.

Symphony's Concert Master Plays Wieniawski Solo Role

What appears to be the most interesting Victoria Symphony Orchestra concert of the season thus far will be presented to-night at the Royal Theatre by the fast-improving orchestra under the baton of Hans Gruber.

Clifford Evans, concert-master, will be the featured soloist during the playing of Wieniawski's Second Concerto for violin and orchestra. Opening selection in the orchestra's third performance of the season will be Weber's Overture to "Der Freischutz."

Other selections on the program will be two Slavonic dances, by Dvorak, and Haydn's Military symphony. Before an enthusiastic audience of Greater Victoria students, Maestro Gruber conducted the orchestra in the second of a series of four student concerts Sunday afternoon at the Royal. The orchestra performed the same program as is listed for to-night. The student concerts are sponsored by the Greater Victoria School Board.

The Unhappy Opposition

THESE ARE TIMES WHEN A POLITICAL party might well prefer opposition to office. A political party which is governing in a period of unprecedented difficulty must take all the blame and receive little of the praise. An opposition can enjoy all the fun of denouncing the government without taking any responsibility for policy itself. Yet the Conservative party in the Canadian Parliament does not seem to be enjoying opposition much. It is having more trouble than the government.

The trouble arises because the Conservatives cannot make up their minds on the issues of the day. Mr. Drew's demand for open-ended price control last spring, his sudden retreat from that line a few weeks ago, the refusal of his leading lieutenants to support his original policy, the demand for credit controls and then the attack on the government for imposing them—this record is familiar.

Now the Conservative party seems to be executing a complete reversal of its policy on open-ended price controls.

Whenever it has been in office the Conservative party has weakened the Combines Act and done little or nothing to curb monopolies in restraint of trade. This record also is familiar.

But lately we find Mr. John Diefenbaker, the party's spokesman, denouncing the government for failure to attack this problem. That is a welcome change from the former Conservative attitude but the public will wonder how deep this conversion goes. Does Mr. Diefenbaker speak for the party or for himself?

The subject under discussion was price maintenance, the practice by which manufacturers fix the retail price of their goods. The government proposes to outlaw this practice altogether because it prevents price competition in certain classes of goods and penalizes the consumer. Since the subject is complex and involves many interests, the government is prepared to submit its policy to a parliamentary committee for public study.

The purpose of the committee, as the government said clearly, is only to educate Parliament and public. There is no intention of abandoning the policy of prohibiting price maintenance.

Mr. Diefenbaker says the government obviously is afraid and is stalling. However, throughout his eloquent philippic against combines and against the government, Mr. Diefenbaker nowhere says whether he is against price maintenance or not. The government's policy is clear. The opposition, as usual, is evading the whole issue. Not long hence, however, it will have to vote one way or the other. Then we shall see whether the opposition is serious in its attack on restraints of trade.

Again, the Conservative party has always stood, from the days of Macdonald's National Policy onwards, for high protective tariffs. Now, one gathers from a recent parliamentary speech by Mr. E. D. Fulton of Kamloops the party is wavering here, too. Mr. Fulton has suddenly discovered, what everybody has long known, that "a number of industries" protected by the tariff, "charge prices in excess of what is necessary." This situation, he says, should be "closely investigated . . . and action should be taken where the investigation indicates the necessity of it."

Here Mr. Fulton has touched on a much more serious restraint of trade than any combine (the Canadian tariff, holding prices of many goods far above those in the United States, is a major factor in the Canadian cost of living. Anyone who has priced a refrigerator, radio or automobile in Seattle knows all about that. But just as it was the Conservative party which weakened the law against combines, it was the Conservative party which established tariffs in the first place and, in its last term of office under Lord Bennett, raised them to a point where Canada's international trade was almost extinguished. All this, of course, at the expense of the consumer.

Successive Liberal governments have reduced the tariff to its present relatively low point but they would certainly have gone much further if they had not been stubbornly opposed by the Conservative party and the pressure groups which it has always represented.

Does Mr. Fulton mean that the Conservative party has seen the folly of its life-long principles, that it is ready to co-operate in reducing the tariff? Probably not. On this, as on price control and price maintenance, the opposition has still to make up its mind and mean-while continues to speak on all sides of the case.

Minority Of One

THE EARL OF HALIFAX, FORMER British ambassador to Washington and a pre-war British foreign minister, probably knows and loves the Commonwealth as well as Mr. Howard Green, M.P., of Vancouver. But Lord Halifax has recently rejected out of hand the theory advocated by Mr. Green in the Canadian Parliament that the Commonwealth somehow should create a third and distinct bloc of power in the world.

This comes with striking emphasis from Lord Halifax since at the end of the last war he himself proposed a consolidation of the Commonwealth in a famous Toronto speech.

Lord Halifax has been learning from events since that time. Instead of hiving the Commonwealth off as a third power bloc he proposed in New York a few days ago that Britain enter with the United States into "something more than a partnership—a relationship which cannot be dissolved." Any such relationship, of course, must reject the third-bloc theory, as advocated by Mr. Green and once advocated by Lord Halifax himself.

The basic premise of British foreign policy under Mr. Churchill is to unite the power of Britain and the Commonwealth with that of the United States and other peace-loving nations, to avoid any division in that power by the creation of separate blocs within it.

This is not a new idea with Mr. Churchill. As early as 1943, at Harvard, he said that the common language of Britons and Americans "may well some day become the foundation of a common citizenship." Today Mr. Churchill is preparing not to create a "third force" but to seek further economic aid from the United States, a still closer union.

There is nothing in Mr. Churchill's policy to support the proposals of Mr. Green, who has no support in Britain except among Mr. Bevan's left wing of the Labor party. The contrary thesis is advanced for Canada by Mr. Pearson, in answer to Mr. Green—the thesis that the free world's power must be combined and not splintered by the formation of separate blocs, however good their intentions—is the thesis accepted in the United States and in Britain.

In fairness it should be said that among Conservatives in Parliament only Mr. Green has opposed the government's policy. He seems to be a minority of one.

Shedding An Old Skin

QUETLY, AND WITH THE REMARK that "this government feels that the majority of people consider it is quite a privilege to be regarded as a Canadian rather than as a Dominion citizen," Prime Minister St. Laurent recently explained the elimination of the word "Dominion" from our official name.

So perishes a term that many had come to dislike as a lingering relic of colonialism in a nation which has proved its maturity and its ability to stand on its own feet.

It would be a mistake to consider this action—as some of the Progressive Conservatives and Social Credit members considered it—a further severance of ties with Britain or other members of the Commonwealth. Such was not the intent or result of earlier action, also taken at Mr. St. Laurent's suggestion, of dropping "British" from the official designation of the "Commonwealth"—an association, incidentally, in which the percentage of "British" blood was relatively small.

A Matter Of Who's In Charge

THE C.C.F. SEEMS TO BE STEPPING out of character in opposing the abolition of price maintenance—the system whereby manufacturers specify the prices at which their products will be sold.

Mr. Alastair Stewart, the socialist member for Winnipeg North, spoke disparagingly of the government's plan to legislate this practise out of existence. He told the Commons that only 5 per cent of the goods listed in the cost-of-living index would be affected, implying the situation was unworthy of federal attention.

This casual attitude to the problem is not shared by the McQuarrie Committee which recently made its report on the price maintenance situation. The document mentions various estimates that have been made, ranging from "about 500 items" in common use, to as many as 3,000. One authority put the figure at 15 per cent of department store sales.

The Committee kept its report in general terms, but classed the practise of price maintenance as "widespread" and "of significant and growing proportions." So much for Mr. Stewart's pat and undocumented estimate.

But the paradox of the C.C.F.'s refusal to support legislation designed to protect the consumer—a factor in our society usually very dear to the socialist's heart—has a logical explanation. For in the manufacturers' system of fixed prices and regulated mark-ups may be seen elements of the C.C.F.'s dream of government regulation of all stages of our commercial and economic life.

Where the true free enterprise scents inherent danger in attempted monopoly control, the C.C.F.'er has only remonstrance against the private agencies exerting it. He accepts the principle, and sees himself, in the form of a governmental official, as the proper medium of its application.

LOOSE ENDS

The Theory Of Blackmail

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

MR. ROY BROWN, editor-emeritus of The Vancouver Sun and one of the most respected journalists in British Columbia, has discovered a solution for all this province's problems, political and economic. As an old friend and admiring pupil of Mr. Brown's I am bound to say that his solution is about the most dangerous, disruptive and deplorable that I have yet seen in print.

Since the coalition government here is in trouble Mr. Brown proposes a great diversionary movement to take the public's mind off local difficulties.

The provincial government, he says, should march on Ottawa in a crusade for what he calls "provincial rights."

THAT is to say, it should obscure all its own troubles by raiding the federal treasury and blackmailing the federal government. In the ensuing battle at Ottawa all the mistakes of the provincial government would be forgotten, all its extravagance forgiven and all the problems which it has created for itself disguised.

An easy trick, the oldest in politics—the parish pump raised against the interests of the nation, one section of Canada set against the others and, in the resulting brawl, the real facts drowned out by the oratory of local patriotism.

MR. BROWN, and many local politicians, contend that British Columbia is not getting enough money from the federal treasury in exchange for the abandonment of provincial income taxes. The figures here are too complicated for discussion at the moment but one of them should be remembered:

This impoverished province of British Columbia, this poor victim of a rapacious national government, this pitiable Cinderella in the ashes of Confederation, this orphan of the storm is now spending, per capita, twice as much as any other province in Canada and proposes shortly to spend still more out of its abundant revenues.

BUT that is not enough for Mr. Brown and those who think with him. The federal government must disgorge more of its ill-gotten gains, sweated out of the hide of British Columbia. It must tax the nation at large still more to enable British Columbia to live not only far better than any other province but better than it is living now.

This, we are asked to believe, is a "provincial right." But some other rights are involved. The national economy has some right, I suppose, and the national economy already busting with inflation, will be inflated still more if the federal government hands out huge new grants to the provinces to be spent on goods in competition with the private consumer. The taxpayers of the nation have some rights, too. So has the defense of the nation and it requires all the money the federal government can get to hold off the men and women of the armed services. A British Columbia boy marching in Korea is not likely to be inspired by a march on Ottawa.

BEHIND all this reasoning about provincial rights is the great British Columbia illusion—that somehow this province is not part of Canada, that it not only can but is entitled to maintain far higher governmental services than any other province, if necessary at the nation's expense, that it is the single victim of the Canadian system, that money collected by the national government here really belongs to British Columbia (as if the national government could get any money outside the province), that British Columbia would be far better off if it were detached from Canada and, in short, that this is not a nation but ten little Balkan states engaged in a cold war.

THE temptation of the provincial politicians is obvious. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Anscomb could outbid each other in demands on the federal treasury, could make themselves the rival champions of provincial rights and thus distract the voters from the real business of British Columbia, especially from the fact that British Columbia is far more heavily taxed by the policies of the provincial government than any other province.

I TAKE a higher view of Mr. Johnson and Mr. Anscomb than Mr. Brown does. I doubt that either of them, at a time of national crisis, will follow the easy and cowardly course of dumping their troubles on the nation's lap.

Also, I doubt that, in the pinch, either of them would be prepared to break the present taxation agreement with Ottawa and return to the collection of a provincial income tax, which would simply mean that British Columbians would pay two such taxes, a "provincial right" which the taxpayers are hardly anxious to exercise at the moment.

FINALLY, it is to be supposed that the federal government will resist blackmail from Mr. Johnson, its friend, and Mr. Anscomb, its enemy, even if blackmail were attempted. British Columbia is getting along all right, with the nation's most expensive public services and highest living standard. It is a great province, growing greater on its own resources and ingenuity. If, spending twice as much as any other province, it wishes to spend still more, it must pay the shot itself. It is not a beggar with a tin cup on the steps of Ottawa's East Block. And it happens to be a part of Canada.

Practical Instruction

Edmonton Journal

Learning another language by conversation with the native-speaking is as old as the human tribe. Yet as a method of formal instruction in the classroom it has been largely neglected on this continent until quite recently. This has been unfortunate for generations of language students. A change may be coming in the United States, however, as a result of work done with the "spoken approach" during and since the war, and it may be hoped that the good word will spread into school and university classrooms in Canada.

As Our Readers See It

INCENSED

As a Canadian, and I might add, a loyal one, I feel no doubt every good Canadian who has read Mr. Adrian Percival Barnstead's letter feels incensed.

Our "hard to understand" Canadian accent was perfectly understood by the Royal couple. England's babble of mixed county dialects no doubt he understands perfectly. And as for aping our "American friends" I feel that not only has he insulted every Canadian but every American.

ROBERT LANG.

ENGLISH REPLY

In reply to Mr. Barnstead, of Duncan, in your issue of Nov. 6th, I may say that I consider it the most outstanding example of bad taste I have ever come across.

Mr. Barnstead, fortunately only a visitor, seems to represent that almost extinct breed of Englishmen who earned such a bad reputation for all Englishmen in this country 40 or 50 years ago; a reputation that all normal Englishmen in Canada had to fight against for years. This is colossal impertinence for a visitor to express his opinion on a subject he knows nothing about in a country to which he is a stranger. The first thing he should learn is that Canada is not and has not been for many years a British Colony and certainly is not English.

I would advise him not to air his views in Toronto, for example, if he condescends to visit that "village" on his return journey.

L. E. ATTER.

Also an Englishman.

NEIGHBOR SPEAKS

MAY I express an opinion on a statement made by Mayor Percy George "that Victoria carries the load of taxation for the outer municipalities."

I wonder how long the business section would survive if we did no business in Victoria? Had Mayor George been lucky enough to have won the seat of the late Commander Beard, outside municipalities may have had more interest. I don't think amalgamation will ever go over until Victoria puts her own house in order.

I cannot see the necessity of a mayor, when they have a manager at high salary. Mayor George should be thankful surrounding districts patronise everything, including the bus service.

SALES TAX

Today I lost a customer because I "chiselled one cent" from this customer!

I was asked for two packages of "Sportsman" cigarettes. Now as every smoker knows by this time, a packet of cigarettes costs 42 cents—but in B.C., thanks to Mr. Anscomb it costs 43 cents because Mr. Anscomb must enforce the tax which he crammed down our throats, utterly regardless of thousands of protests through groups of mass meetings.

The customer thought of this charge for a moment, then went out of the store. A moment later he was back and said, "Frank! You've chiselled one cent from me."

I remonstrated, explaining to him that he bought two packets of cigarettes which amounted to 84 cents plus 3 cents provincial tax. No amount of explanation would suit this irate individual even though I showed him the cash register record of 84 cents plus tax 3 cents.

I still chiselled and he left my store saying, "I'll never buy another cigarette from you."

This erstwhile customer is also a business man. I wonder upon what basis he collects this damned and infamous tax and how about lost customers Mr. Anscomb, or do you care?

FRANK GODFREY.

Sidney, B.C.

INFINITE POWER

In a lengthy letter in a recent issue Mr. Watherston questions if the "Power which created the human individual endowed with an innate sense of right and wrong, and an intellect capable of thinking and judging," could have been less than an infinite of power and of wisdom.

Might I just ask Mr. Watherston if he could have accompanied man from his inception a million years ago, if from his origin distinct from his animal ancestors strict account could have been kept of his sex orgies, his coarseness, drunkenness, vice, violence, murders, wars, prostitution, embezzlements, burnings of "witches" persecutions of "heretics," the actual human misery of life due to lack of justice, honor, temperance, kindness, self-restraint, tolerance; if your correspondent could have kept, as in a record, all of the evidence of a lack of innate knowledge of right and wrong during human history covering at least 1,000,000 years, would the evidence of supreme and infinite power and wisdom be so overwhelming as Mr. Watherston asserts? Is his expressed opinion not, rather due to serious lack of thought, or a hasty jumping to conclusion?

ONE STANDARD

We humans forget we must pay for our mistakes in the past in every instance.

We forget that money is exclusively only a means of exchange and is valueless when no longer so.

Standard yards, metres, kilos, pounds, avoirdupois, etc., are kept inviolate in museums.

Not so our means of exchange such as pounds, dollars, francs, marks, etc. There is only one unalterable standard of value, and this we carry with us all the time. It cannot be put in a museum.

This standard of value is our energy and the means to produce same with the resultant refuse it produces. Besides love with which we can reproduce every other need.

Waiting For It To Boil Over

By STEWART ALSOP From Cairo

IT IS absolutely hopeless to try to arrange with the present Egyptian government any kind of compromise settlement of the menacing crisis here. To understand why, it is necessary to know something of the interesting cast of characters in the strange, sullen drama which is being played out here.

The first player in the drama is the Prime Minister, Nahas Pasha, an agile, leathery man in his later seventies, with an energy and shrewdness remarkable in a man of his age, and an odd personal charm. As one of the founders of the Egyptian independence movement, Nahas Pasha has a perfectly genuine prestige in Egypt. But, if only because of his age, the key figures in Nahas Pasha's Waadist party (which once had something of the drive of most revolutionary movements, but has now become a haven of corruption and a convenient vehicle for the tiny ruling class) are two younger men.

One of these is the Minister of the Interior, Serag el Din Pasha, who looks like a Middle Eastern version of Thomas E. Dewey. He is the party boss and patronage dispenser, and the heir apparent of Nahas Pasha.

It was Serag el Din who some days ago clamped down hard on the street mobs, inducing the present state of sullen, explosive calm in Cairo and Alexandria. He derives his real political strength from the Pashas who finance the Waadist party, and who have no interest in seeing the mobs get out of hand.

Salah el Din, the Foreign Minister, who also wishes to succeed Nahas Pasha, is called "a prisoner of the streets," for he derives his power from the mobs rather than the Pashas. He is accounted both personally honest and fanatically ambitious.

All three of these men are publicly and inescapably committed to the evacuation of all British troops from the Canal Zone as a precondition to any sort of settlement.

BETTER ATMOSPHERE

Nahas Pasha, in an interview with this reporter, seemed to modify this position, saying only that evacuation would "create a better atmosphere" for defense discussions. But in fact this government is trapped by its own extremism, and incapable of any real compromise. They are committed to getting the British out and at once. And the British are simply not going to get out, if only because the whole Middle East would then be left nakedly defenseless.

Moreover, it would obviously be insane for the British, or the Americans for that matter, to reward a government which has kicked the Western powers in the teeth, by talking compromise. Therefore, for the time being, the only thing to do is to stick it out, which the British are perfectly capable of doing. But here there enters the real difference between Serag el Din and his rival Salah el Din, a most important difference.

Because he controls the Waadist party machinery, Serag el Din can afford to be patient. For Salah el Din, this is the last chance. He has never held top office before. He owes his present post to the patronage of the aging Nahas (whose secretary he was) and to his popularity with street mobs, which he has won by taking consistently the most extreme position against the British.

When a final crisis comes, hold, shrewdly timed action by Farouk to replace the government could save the situation. But obviously the situation would be saved only very briefly, unless the new government of Farouk's choosing had something new and at least reasonably palatable to offer the inflamed Egyptian masses. And this is why it is absolutely essential that the British and American governments should display, for once, the unity and the foresight which they have so rarely displayed in this tormented area.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

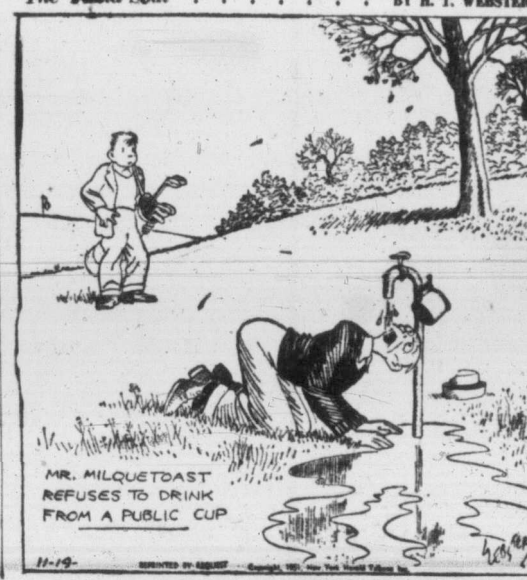

"ONE OF THE big problems of our time," said the Elevator Man, "is what to do with ourselves when we've solved our other problems. That means recreation. It's mighty funny to think of recreation as a problem, but that's what it's become. It used to be a pleasure. It used to be just the pleasant thing you did to amuse yourself when you had nothing else to do. But not any more. Recreation is a duty now. It's a chore that has to be carried out whether you want to or not. And just to make sure you do it right you'll likely be talked into hiring a supervisor to watch you. And recreation needn't necessarily be fun any more either. You must go at it with a grim determination to improve yourself, to make your play do a job for you. Just because you aren't being paid for it, doesn't mean you mustn't give it your best effort. Going up!

"I can see the day coming," said the Elevator Man, "when people will flee from recreation back to their jobs to get relief. The burden of resting will prove too much and we'll seek refuge in our comfortable grove of labor. We may even end up with laws compelling us to recreate. We have laws now telling us we mustn't do any work for 16 hours of the day. It's only a step from that to telling us what we DO have to do for some of those hours. Like improving our minds, our bodies, our morals and our adjustment to society. That last, of course, is the big thing. Everybody must work at adjusting himself to society. It's taken for granted that society is as favorable to the idea as he is. Going down!

"A lot of folks," said the Elevator Man, "are going to end up feeling the same way about recreation that the army sergeant felt toward his water supply. 'What precautions do you take against contamination?' asked the medical officer. 'We boil it, sir,' said the sergeant. 'Excellent,' says the officer, 'very good indeed.' And then, went on the sergeant, 'just for safety's sake, we drink beer.'"

RELIGIOUS TRAINING AFTER SCHOOL HOURS

Suggests Catholic Schools Become Part Of British Columbia Public School Plan

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 19 (BUP)—British Columbia Catholic schools would become part of the provincial public school system with Catholic students receiving religious training after regular school hours under a plan suggested today by Reg Paxton, secretary of the B.C. Catholic Education association.

Paxton said Roman Catholics in B.C. are now willing to "integrate their educational system with that of the government." Such a program would probably solve the dispute between Roman Catholics and the Provincial Department of Education stemming from the closure of two Catholic schools at Maillardville, a French-speaking settlement some 20 miles east of here. The schools were shut down last Easter by the Catholic parents after the government refused to pay bus transportation costs of the Catholic school board.

The Roman Catholic children attended regular schools in the district after Easter.

Paxton said Catholic schools were prepared to use the same text books as the public schools and would also accept non-Catholic teachers. He said, however, that Catholics insist on the right to give their children religious instruction and said this could possibly be worked out by having the Catholic students take such instruction after regular school hours.

Prairie Farmers Clamor For Aid

Require Financial Aid With Greater Part
Of Wheat Crop Under Snow; Alberta Hard Hit

EDMONTON, Nov. 19 (CP).—More than $450,000,000 worth of wheat, oats and barley is estimated to be lying under snow in Alberta and Saskatchewan, waiting until

Most of it eventually will be salvaged, but its value after a winter in the open is a question mark.

For a second straight year a late growing season and early winter have combined with marketing and transportation problems to frustrate the farmers' hopes for a bulging crop of top-quality grain, safely harvested and sold before winter.

As it is, nearly three-quarters of the Prairie wheat crop still is on the farms—either unharvested or threshed and in makeshift storage.

ELEVATORS FULL

And the farmers are without the cash they customarily receive in the fall when they deliver their grain to the elevators. Those with threshed grain are unable to get rid of it because most elevators are clogged.

Farm organizations are clamoring for financial advances from the federal government to see the farmers through the winter. Business men are worried, too, because the entire western economy is slower when the farmer's purchasing power drops.

Alberta, particularly its southern areas, has been hit hardest. Not only did early frost and snow cut the expected wheat yield by 15,000,000 bushels—slicing farm income by as much as $35,000,000—but the quality of the balance took a severe beating. As of two weeks ago, the average grade of Alberta wheat was down to Grade IV.

R. E. English, statistician of the Alberta department of agriculture, estimates at $262,000,000 the value of wheat, oats and barley still in the fields unharvested when the most recent snow just about finished the year's harvest work.

Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan has placed at $200,000,000 the value of wheat alone buried under snow in that province. Manitoba has been relatively fortunate, with more than 85 per cent of its grain crop threshed and only $8,000,000 worth of grain under snow.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics last Thursday estimated the wheat crop in the three western provinces at a potential 531,000,000 bushels. To this must be added 20,000,000 bushels of old-crop wheat still on the farms when the new crop year began Aug. 1.

Applications For Post Office Jobs For Yule Holidays Asked

Persons wanting temporary employment at the post office for the Christmas season should register at the National Employment office as soon as possible.

C. A. Mudge, manager, said the employment office had already begun to take names of persons who want "rush season" jobs.

"Only persons fully unemployed will be hired as extra Christmas help," Mudge said. "Veterans will receive preference."

The manager said he expected many persons to register for work at the post office due to increased unemployment in the city.

"The unemployment applies to both men and women," he said. "There are not many jobs available in Victoria at present."

Complete All-Weather Air Force U.S. Object

Aim To Equip All Fighter Craft With Electronic Eyes; Combat Red Advance

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—The United States Air Force is beginning to build toward a new interceptor fleet in which all fighter planes instead of only a few will have electronic eyes for hunting down enemy bombers in any kind of weather, day or night.

Discussing the trend toward the "all-weather" fighter force, one official commented today that it didn't seem to make sense to have interceptor planes which can only work in daylight and in good visual conditions.

Back of his comment was the fact that the best conditions for a modern bomber force, equipped with radar bomb sight, is in the blanketing protection of darkness and clouds.

The move toward a complete all-weather force started some time ago, but now is being accelerated in the U.S.A.F.'s new aircraft procurement program.

Revision of estimates during the last two years of Russia's strategic bombing capabilities have given urgency to an effort to provide the air defense command with a complete force of interceptors capable of operating at any time under any conditions. Russia has added large numbers of long range bombers, based on the American B-29 design, to her strategic force and has demonstrated she now has the atomic bomb.

Strategists assume that if Russian navigation and radar equipment has progressed at the pace of the Soviet bomber and jet fighter progress, Red airmen would be able to make a surprise strike timed to bring the bombers in over the United States under cover of darkness and, if possible, in cloud cover.

BAGS GO BY WINDOW

Hurried Guests Make Exit Without Benefit Of Bellboy

Empress Hotel desk clerks today lifted their eyebrows at a story coming from Coos Bay, Ore.

George Vaughan, lumberman from Barview, near Coos Bay, back home after attending the recent Pacific Logging Congress here, revealed to hometown reporters that he waited so long for a bellboy at the Empress when he was checking out that his wife "threw my luggage out the window to me on the lawn below."

He said he had a photograph to prove it, according to the United Press.

"We heard about that fellow," one of the clerks said. "I think the incident happened when everybody seemed to be checking out at once and we had quite a rush on our hands."

To Donald A. Williams, assistant manager, the logger's story seemed incredible.

"Haven't heard of it, and I'm inclined to doubt it happened," said Williams. "You know how those people are. They like to exaggerate sometimes. Anyway, it's fantastic."

The story the Barview logger told was this:

"Our room was at the rear of the hotel. Our car was parked almost beneath the window. We had to catch a boat in a few minutes. To save time and labor, I went to the car while Mrs. Vaughan went to the second floor room to toss out our bags and her coat."

Cadets Take Huge Lead In City Football Final

Moving a mountain by hand is an easy task compared with the job facing Oak Bay Goblins next Saturday.

The Goblins must, if they wish to win the National Canadian football championship, make up a deficit of 19 points, add a few more and all the while hold the relentless machine from Royal Roads scoreless, as the cadets posted them 20-1 in the first game of the two-game total point series Saturday.

Cadet sub quarterback Carl Sergeant was the biggest cog of the blue machine Saturday. Given his charge with starter Scotty Price still injured, Sergeant called a perfect game, passed well, dropped-kicked one convert and a field goal and passed for one touchdown.

It took the cadets less than five minutes to hit their stride. After a short exchange of kicks following the kick-off, they started on their own 20. Eight plays later Chick Ferguson went 25 yards around right end to hit the end zone standing up. Sergeant converted.

A sleeper pass from Art Dawe to Ken Higgs after the resultant kick-off moved the ball down to the Royal Roads 25. Higgs took it to the five for a first down but three plays in a row were stopped for a net gain of only four yards as the cadet line proved impregnable.

In the second quarter, Higgs hoisted a long punt to headline for Goblins' only point.

Ross Rayment's 35-yard scamper in the second quarter put the cadets close enough for Sergeant to boot his field goal as Goblins began to fade.

Inept blocking on every play kept the Goblins attack bogged down in mid-field and in their own end of the field during the second half.

In the fourth quarter, Goblins tried to run the ball on third down and failed, giving the cadets a first down on the Oak Bay 20. After three running plays, Len Pye went over centre for the major which was converted by Jack Falkins. Sergeant's toss to Terry Pocock in the end zone terminated the scoring as the convert failed.

BRIBE ATTEMPT REPORTED IN O.C. SOCCER

AIRDRIE, Scotland, Nov. 19 (AP).—An attempt to bribe a player to help throw a game in the Scottish Football League has been reported to the league.

Tom Brown, regular full-back for Airdrieonians, said he refused an offer of £100 to help lose a game against Glasgow Celtic.

Brown said he was stopped in the street by a man who got out of a flashy car. The player said the man told him a former player on the club had been paid £600 for "helping."

Brown reported the offer to his manager before the match.

The club directors will discuss the bribe attempt tomorrow.

Baker Denied Amateur Status By Cage Body

Must Wait Full Year; Individuals May Fold

By DENNY BOYD

Canada's greatest basketball player, Norm Baker, has been denied permission to play as an amateur member of the Victoria Individuals.

Will Cain, British Columbia Amateur Basketball Association president, informed Tommy Carson of the Victoria and District Basketball League, Sunday, that permission for Baker to play on a game to game basis pending his amateur reinstatement was refused.

Carson was also informed that the C.A.B.A. would not even consider Baker's reinstatement until his year outside of pro competition was up in April.

Baker is still classified as a professional because he played with Boston Celtics last season. He will have been amateur for one year in April when he will be able to apply for reinstatement again.

A four-page letter from the C.A.B.A. was sent to Carson from the secretary treasurer of the association. In it's essence, the letter stated: "Baker is not eligible under our constitution and under no circumstances will a ballot be taken on him this year. The decision is irrevocable."

Should Baker play in future games, all amateur players who play against him would be in danger of losing their amateur status. The C.A.B.A. stated that they could not guarantee the status of any such players.

As he will not be considered for reinstatement by the Canadian body, the British Columbia association cannot grant him the game to game permission that the club had hoped to obtain in lieu of the full permission. He played against Vancouver Elfers on this agreement.

Sid Watson, Individuals manager, said today that, minus Baker, the club is likely to fold. He feels that without Baker as a

Red Wings Keep Road Mark Alive

Detroit Red Wings, who have a habit of taking over the leadership in the National Hockey League early in the season and holding it until the final gun, today can boast of another record. They haven't lost a game away from home since the 1951-52 campaign started early in October.

They kept their slate clean last night with an easy 5-2 victory over the Rangers at New York, giving them a five-point edge in points over the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs who lost 1-0 at Chicago. Incidentally, the Leaf loss was their first away from Maple Leaf Gardens this season.

The Hawks capitalized on the victory, before a crowd of 10,221, to take over fifth position, one point up on the Rangers, who have won only five of their 15 games to date.

Five N.H.L. games were played during the week-end and the results changed only the bottom-place positions.

LONG DROUGHT
Leafs gained a point in their 1-1 tie at home with Boston Bruins Saturday—the fourth straight drawn game for Joe Primeau's team.

They haven't won a game since Nov. 8 when they beat the Hawks at Chicago 3-1.

The draw for the Bruins at Toronto and a 3-3 stalemate with the third-place Montreal Canadiens Sunday night at Boston left them in fourth place.

Canadiens were the greatest point-gainers, following up their 3-2 Saturday victory over Rangers at Montreal with the 3-3 deadlock at Boston.

CONACHER MAKES GOOD
The Leaf-Hawk Sunday game was goalkeeper Harry Lumley's first shutout of the season and also marked the debut of Peis Conacher, son of the great Charlie and nephew of Lionel, and the kid made good. He assisted on the goal scored by Jim McFadden late in the second period.

COMBOS, HEANEY'S STILL TIED FOR FIRST PLACE
In three Lower Island and Juvenile Football Association first division games, Sunday, Victoria Combines defeated Cowichan Braves, 8-1; Heaney's downed Victoria College Vikings, 6-1; and Army, Navy and Air Force edged Harris Cycles, 2-1.

Combines, playing on a sloppy field at Duncan, were never behind once during their contest and outscored the Braves 2-1 at halftime. The win left them tied with Heaney's for first-place honors.

Victoria College Vikings are slowly gaining the honors for being the hard-luck team of the league. Not once during the game were they outplayed by the cartage men, but again demonstrated their ability to hit everything and anything but the opposing goalkeeper's net.

One goal in the first half and one again in the second gave Army, Navy and Air Force their first division win over Harris Cycles at Upper Beacon Hill.

The win left A.N.A.F. in a first-place tie with the Cycle men.

Three games were played Saturday: Mic Mac's downed Combine Pee Wee's, 3-0; Eagles edged St. Louis College, 2-1, and James Bay Merchants defeated Tzouhalem Aller Boys, 4-2.

ATTENDANCE UP IN COAST LOOP
SEATTLE, Nov. 19 (UP).—More persons are seeing Pacific Coast Hockey League games this year than last year, according to league president G. A. Leader.

"We're 7,000 fans ahead of a like number of games for last fall," Leader said. "The reason is the league is playing better hockey."

Leader said the Seattle Ironmen were the leading crowd-getters.

Soldier's Premonition Preface Of Wild Fight

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA. Nov. 19 (CP)—The young Toronto lieutenant had been and a premonition on his 25th birthday—Friday, Nov. 2.

He decided to share both with his section leaders, and called them in to his command post on the isolated outpost position, 600 yards ahead of the main defense line.

Ed Mastronardi of the 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, had seen an attack there once before by the Chinese and had wired and booby-trapped the area thoroughly after beating them off.

"Boys," he told his three section leaders as he handed each a quart of carefully-booby-trapped beer. "I have a feeling they're going to come in tonight, and in strength."

They came in. First waves blew up on the mines. The Chinese used machetes to chop the barbed wire fence from its steel-peg moorings, then used dead and wounded comrades as gang-planks over the mines. Individual Chinese with bangalore torpedoes strapped to their bodies wriggled through the wire, reached the inner perimeter and detonated the torpedoes, blowing a gap "wide enough to drive two city buses abreast through it."

Some of the wrigglers blew up with their torpedoes. Others were killed before they could detonate them. Altogether 14 bangalore men tried to get into the position.

Mastronardi called down artillery and the first attack was broken off before the position was penetrated. "We threw too many (Japanese for 'very much') grenades—it was a grenade war," said the lieutenant afterward.

The second attack came in at 10.30. "They blew bugles and whistles and shot flares," said the young commander. "They blew gaps in the wire—but they never got through them."

There was sporadic fighting then until three in the morning. "When they came in under a terrific volume of fire," in support the Chinese had two tanks, medium machine-guns, light machine-guns, mortars and heavy artillery. At close quarters they used phosphorus grenades.

Surrounded, Grenades All Gone

"It was the heaviest fire I've ever experienced—and it was from the resulting shrapnel that I got most of my casualties," Mastronardi said. "By then we were out of grenades and almost out of ammunition. We had been fighting almost nine hours. And there were enemy on both sides and behind us."

There was a particularly troublesome machine-gun on the ridge behind the outpost. So Mastronardi and Sargeant scaled the slope shoulder to shoulder, the officer using a burp gun he'd taken from a dying Chinese and Sargeant his Sten. They knocked the gun out of action, killing one of its crew and then returned to the platoon.

Pte. J. D. Sharp of Toronto, stretcher-bearer, organized the wounded in the middle of the formation. He checked the whole platoon for wounded first, then grouped them "and by sheer drive and nerve got them to help us fight our way out as well as take care of themselves."

While the platoon worked its way back, Mastronardi, Pte. C. W. Baker of Lunenburg, N.S., and a soldier who later was wounded,

Canadian Korea Veterans Heard Of No Atrocities

SUDBURY, Ont., Nov. 19 (BUP)—One group of Canadian veterans of Korea said today the only atrocities against United Nations soldiers in Korea they have heard of were in recent newspaper and radio reports.

"I heard of one Canadian artilleryman shot after being taken prisoner," Pte. Harold McNamara, Ottawa, said. "That was all."

The 100 veterans, part of the group which disembarked at Vancouver, B.C., last week after serving nearly a year at the front, were greeted by hundreds of residents who braved 5-degree temperatures and a blinding snowstorm to welcome them last night.

"The first we've heard of these so-called atrocities," the men said, "has been through newspaper and radio reports. We read the Hanley report on prisoners being murdered Saturday."

Taxi Curb Stand Decision Upheld

A previous decision to award a Blanshard Street curb stand to Bluebird Cabs has been upheld by city council transportation committee.

Speaking for Island U-Drive, R. A. Price said the company had requested cancellation of the stand in question after vacating adjoining premises on the understanding that the city's policy was to get cabs off the streets. He asked the stand be restored or a new one assigned.

City Solicitor Arthur Patton stated that while the taxi by-laws merely states where the curb stands shall be, council has authority to designate stands to certain firms by resolution.

Five members of Victoria Union Toastmasters "campaign for office" in a "novel" program arranged for the club by Gordon Hobson.

"Candidates" who made campaign speeches were Jack Chapman, Gil Langley, Ben Franklin, Bob Fletcher and Jim McCague.

The club Christmas party will be held Dec. 15 at Chez Marcel, president Bob Doherty announced.

Burnside and Shelbourne Roads will get the white centre line treatment shortly.

First couple of days we have without frost or rain, the line will go down on Burnside to the Saanich border and Shelbourne from Bay to the Saanich border," said Robert Doble, city traffic chief, today.

Books by Canadian authors proved popular with "Victoria children during Young Canada Book Week which concluded Sunday.

According to Miss H. H. King, head of the children's section of the Public Library, two shelves of "home grown" books were in such demand, dummy books with jackets were put in the cases, so there would still be a display while the books circulated through many young hands.

Sales of electrical equipment in Victoria fell by $100,000 in October, from the previous month's total.

Local electrical appliance retailers meeting to discuss the situation have decided to make further representation to Finance Minister Abbott appealing for easing of the down payment and credit curbs on these goods.

Jack Wilcox, president of the Retailers' Association, said after the meeting:

"Unless Mr. Abbott takes action soon we shall all be in a serious plight."

Wilcox explained that sales had been extremely low during July and August. Then they picked up somewhat in September but they had fallen off seriously during October.

"These are normally our best months" he said. "We want Abbott to decrease the down payment from one third to one quarter and to extend the repayment period from 12 to 18 months."

Already one Victoria dealer is announcing cut-off of 25 per cent. off the regular price of electrical appliances in an attempt to reduce inventories.

A BIT OF EAVESDROPPING

Red Skelton and Esther Williams, as a pair of carnival performers posing as millionaires, go in for a bit of eavesdropping in this scene from M-G-M's laugh-and-song jammed Technicolor musical, "Texas Carnival," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. Howard Keel also has a stellar part in the proceedings, with Paula Raymond, Ann Miller and Keenan Wynn in support.

Mary Pickford Will Star After 14 Years' Absence

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (UP)—

Mary Pickford, one-time "America's sweetheart," will return to the screen for the first time since 1933 in a production of "The Library."

The film will be produced by Stanley Kramer for Columbia Pictures and star the silent screen heroine in a role Miss Pickford, now 58, called "an almost sacred responsibility."

Details of the plot were not released in the announcement of Miss Pickford's return to the screen issued by Columbia. The story, written by Daniel Taradash and Elick Moll, was reported to concern the influence of a librarian on a group of young persons.

Rehearsals of "The Library" were scheduled to start next month with filming planned for early next year.

Miss Pickford is the wife of band leader-televison host Buddy Rogers. She was divorced from the late matinee idol Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., in 1935.

"This is a picture which stands for everything we Americans hold dear," Miss Pickford said. "It is the most important subject in the world today and the one nearest my heart."

The actress, who last appeared in "The Secrets" in 1933, has been active in various phases of the film industry as a founder and major stockholder in United Artists since her retirement from leading roles.

IN HOLLYWOOD

El Capitan Completes Cycle Of Entertainment With TV

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 6 (AP)—

Those inclined to wax sentimental about theatres could have a field day with the El Capitan in Hollywood. In its 25 years, it has just about run the gamut of show business.

I visited the old house this week. It evoked many memories of the past. But you'd hardly know the theatre now; it's full of booms and cameras and aprons and control booths. Having completed the cycle of entertainment, it now is a television studio for such comics as Eddie Cantor, Jimmy Durante, Danny Thomas and Martin and Lewis.

Jerry Lewis was in diapers when the El Capitan opened Jan. 24, 1927, with Berton Churchill playing his famous "Alias the Deacon." It was in the boom era or Los Angeles and the theatre, then named the Hollywood Playhouse, was promoted by a local financier at a cost of $600,000.

The era passed and so did the promoter, who was later imprisoned for embezzlement.

But the Playhouse kept operating a few steps from Hollywood and Vine. It had a steady stream of secondary attractions with such players as Frank Craven, Edmund Breese, E. E. Clive and Tom Moore.

Among the plays in the first few years: "If I Was Rich," "The Home Towners," "Meet the Wife," "Dear Me," "Salt Water," "It Pays to Advertise," "M'Lord the Duke."

During the depression, the Playhouse was subjected to long periods of darkness. It looked as though the stage was dying, but somehow it managed to come back as it always does.

In 1941, Sid Grauman, C. E. Toberman and others bought the Playhouse for $100,000. They named it the El Capitan, after another Hollywood legit house which had been made into a movie theatre. The next year brought the theatre's greatest success.

Ken Murray opened a vaudeville review called "Blackouts of 1942," a wartime show full of corn and Marie Wilson. The show ran seven years. During that time the theatre's owners declared dividends of $420,000.

"Blackouts" probably could be running still, except that Murray wanted to hit New York with it. "Blackouts" died on Broadway and Murray stayed on to be a TV star.

After the "Blackouts" tenancy, the El Cap had a few flops. TV networks became interested in the place. And so the El Cap was sold for $360,000 to the former Catholic Archbishop of Los Angeles, which now rents it to N.B.C.

VISITORS TO TOWN

By DICK PAUL

Met the Rev. Ansley F. Rash, of London, Eng., at the Strathcona. "Still a good measure of austerity in Britain," said the minister, who, however, looks as though he has enjoyed many a good beefsteak since his Canadian visit. A red-cheeked, chubby fellow, Rev. Rash has been lecturing here on behalf of the British-Israel Society.

Rev. Rash said his society holds to the belief that Anglo-Celtic peoples are the modern descendants of ancient Israel. He has scheduled a series of lectures at Nanaimo, Alberni and other island spots before he heads back for Toronto. On a three-month tour of Canada, Rev. Rash finds himself bewildered at the "vast distances here" and the "opportunity for development."

There's a nautical look about the Craigflower Auto Court and Motel these days... no less than nine naval families are residing there. This is okay with the manager, W. G. Curtis. "I'm an old R.N. man myself," he says. ... Other new Craigflower guests include Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Scriber, and their three children, of Quebec, and C. E. Wright back after a journey to England.

While the annual migration of prairie people to Victoria for the winter is under way, it hasn't assumed flood proportions yet. Most of the hotels have more coming in during the next few weeks. Welcome mat for others is being prepared by various motor courts where wheat-belt people have been coming for years to spend anywhere from days to months.

At Crystal Court Motel are Dr. and Mrs. R. Stipe, Watrous, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. William Adamson, Galt, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Loudon, Quebec; Mr. and Mrs. Laurence A. Scott, Sawyerville, Ont.; Harold B. R. Graves, Vancouver, and Mrs. Edythe Purdy, Ketchikan.

Among the new arrivals at Windsor Motor Court are Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Hogan, Novato, Calif.; C. W. Addison, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. E. Bradshaw, Nanaimo, and Gordon Stosko, Mercer Island, Wash.

Newly arrived from Ramsgate, Eng., and staying at the Washington Motor Court, are Mr. and Mrs. R. J. White and son, Michael, 13. Other new guests at the Washington include Mr. and Mrs. H. Schuman, Hutchinson, Kan., winding up a six-month motor trip of the U.S. and Canada, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thasher, Dinsmore, Sask.

KEEPING POSTED

Public Mails Parcels Early To Avoid Rush

The post office's first mailing deadline Saturday produced no last-minute rush.

This was reported by officials who hope it is a trend for the days ahead. They believe the public mailed Europe-bound parcels well before deadline.

"Everything is normal and we find the people responding very well to our early mailing plea," said a spokesman.

Next deadline is Wednesday, when all letters for the continent for Christmas must be away, as well as all parcels for the United Kingdom. By Nov. 24, all letters for the U.K. should be off, to ensure arrival by Christmas.

Money For U.N. Children Fund Is Prime Necessity

PARIS, Nov. 18 (CP)—Mrs. Adelaide Sinclair of Ottawa isn't a mercenary type but she wants more money for the United Nations' Children's Fund. Exclusive assistant to Canada's deputy welfare minister, Mrs. Sinclair has just wound up the annual meeting of the fund's executive committee—of which she was re-elected chairman for a second one-year term. She has been a member of the committee for five years.

"We allocated about $10,000,000 of aid during this meeting," Mrs. Sinclair told a reporter. "and we have only about $26,000 left until more contributions come in."

The fund—its full name is United Nations' international children's emergency fund—has received contributions and pledges totalling $162,000,000 from governments and private organizations since it was formed five years ago. Last year the Canadian government contributed $500,000—half in cash to be spent for supplies in Canada and the other half in cash—most of it used to supplement children's meals in Yugoslavia.

Mrs. Sinclair, wartime head of Canada's warrens, now she is en route back to Ottawa.

The 26-member board has a worldwide job to oversee with U.N.I.C.E.F. supplies moving in 60 countries. The biggest single allocation this year—$1,871,000—went to Asia.

Colored Film Show Tells Travel Tale

Colored films of Great Britain taken recently will be shown Wednesday night at 8 at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

The pictures were filmed by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Nimmo, who recently returned to this city from a trip overseas. Their film includes shots of London, England's northern lake country, the highlands of Scotland, the Isle of Wight and Ireland.

The showing Wednesday is to be sponsored by the St. Andrew's Welfare Association with proceeds to be used for purchasing overseas food parcels.

Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board.
But even if British Columbia gets gas it remains doubtful if it will be piped over to Vancouver Island.

The suggestion has been made that the provision and upkeep of a pipeline under the sea might make the cost of natural gas prohibitive, or at least of no advantage in comparison with present coal gas.

When this fact was revealed Friday at a meeting of directors of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, James Genge suggested that as gas pipelines came under the ministry of transport, just like the railways, the obligations ought to be similar.

"If it is going to be uneconomical for natural gas to be sold in Victoria then the cost of the unprofitable part of the line should be borne by the part that is making money," he suggested.

Genge pointed out that railways were obliged to serve districts even if it did not pay them to maintain a service.

"Unless something like this is done there will only be a few populous parts of Canada which will get the big advantage of having a natural gas service," commented Major H. C. Holmes.

The first free hydrogen balloon ascension was made in France in 1783 by P. de Rozier and Marquis D'Arlandes.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

A grab-and-run thief Saturday night didn't get all the money available.

John Stovel of the Island U-Drive, Yates Street, told police that while he was out of the office for four minutes checking the mileage on a car, the thief entered, jimmied the cash drawer and made off with $75.

An unstated amount of cash was left behind.

A burglar who broke into D. D. McTavish's real estate office, 918 Government, during the weekend, apparently did not find what he wanted.

Police report that nothing in the office was disturbed. First attempt to get into the premises by forcing the front door failed. Entry was finally gained by a connecting door from an unused office.

The brewery strike is four weeks old Tuesday. No end is in sight.

But Victoria brewery workers, striking against Phoenix Brewery, feel it is just about time for negotiations to resume. The talks, if they are scheduled, will be held in Vancouver.

Re-building of Cedar Hill Road between Gosworth and North Dairy Roads was asked of City Council in a petition today signed by Percy A. Stock, 3143 Cedar Hill Road, and nine others.

They stated houses along the road were shaken badly whenever buses or heavy vehicles passed. Plaster in many homes was cracked and broken as a result; they added.

Robert Bugslay, 1219 Princess Ave., and 11 others petitioned also for cement sidewalks on both sides of Princess from Chambers to Spring Road.

Gnr. Ronald R. Pilon, Gordon Head Army Camp, was fined $15 in city police court today for obstructing a police officer.

Constable John McEwen exhibited an overcoat with a torn lapel. He claimed Pilon was responsible. Constable William Knowles gave corroborating evidence.

A.B. Gilbert S. Birkes, R.C.N., was fined $50 for dangerous driving by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today.

He pleaded guilty. An officer said he paced Birkes at 70 m.p.h. on Douglas Street "and he was swerving over the road and passed a dozen cars."

Birkes' license was suspended for six months.

Douglas Stanley Turner admitted in city police court today he broke into a radio shop and committed theft.

Charge concerns Jack's Auto Radio Shop, 733 Pandora Avenue.

Turner was remanded to Tuesday for sentence.

Piggery Suit For $2,480 In Supreme Court

Lee Chow, 534 Cormorant Street, pig dealer, is suing in Supreme Court John Leonard Fisher of Happy Valley for a sum of $2,480.

Chow alleged in his action today that he entered an agreement with Fisher for the establishment of a pig farming business to be known under the name of Fisher Co. Under the agreement he was to buy the pigs and the feed to fatten them for market, Chow claims.

Chow alleges that Fisher was to reimburse him for the money he spent on the pigs and feed, while the profits made on the animals were to be divided among the two of them.

Fisher failed to carry out the terms of the agreement, Chow alleges, and spent the money he lent him on buying land for himself.

Fisher, represented by Joseph McKenna, K.C., in a counter-claim denied the allegation that he had borrowed or used money belonging to Chow. He alleges that Chow broke the terms of the agreement by failing to carry out the financial terms of the agreement.

COST OF 1951 CHRISTMAS DINNER SAME AS LAST YEAR'S, MR. RIPLEY

By DON INGHAM

Wonder of wonders—Christmas dinner this year gives every indication of costing no more than it did last year.

Turkeys may be up in price. One guess by a retail butcher was that the Christmas gobbler would cost about 75 cents per pound, but the prices of 12 other standard items on the festive board will be very close to those of last year.

The after-dinner demitasse will cost more. Both coffee and cream are more expensive, but sugar recently took a price drop in Vancouver of 1 cent on a five-pound bag—a change that should be reflected here in about a week—though it doesn't amount to much for two lumps.

However, what the chef loses on the coffee she will make up on the soap at the "bitter" end of dinner. Soap has taken a healthy drop in price since last Christmas, and so has the wrapping paper used to keep the left-overs for Boxing Day.

Except for turkeys, the cost of dinner in Victoria will be a little lower than in the United States, where prices on the standard dinner items are about 4 per cent higher.

City Firm Builds New Barracks

ORANGE CARGO FOR YULETIDE ON HIGH SEAS

A sure sign of Christmas. Wholesale row announced today mandarin or "Jap" oranges are expected here next Monday.

It is expected Canada will import 1,000,000 cases for the Yule season this year and local wholesalers are hoping for more than they received last year.

The sweet, loose-skinned oranges sold to wholesalers in 1950 for 50 cents a box. The price this year will be 65 cents. Retail price has not been set.

A major defense construction contract has been awarded to the Victoria firm of G. H. Wheaton.

The Department of Defense Production announced today the $633,371 tender of Wheaton's for a barracks block and mess at Work Point has been accepted.

The project will provide living quarters for 180 men and a kitchen and dining hall for 500. Demolition of the old barracks and the laying of foundations for one of the new buildings have been started already.

"We were informed that our tender had been accepted about three weeks ago," Wheaton said. "We are getting on with the job right away."

The barracks block will be three stories of steel and concrete construction. It is expected to be completed in about nine months.

Other building contracts awarded to B.C. in the latest Department of Defense list are to Marwell Construction Co. Ltd. of Vancouver, $815,233, for a R.C.E.M.E. workshop; Bennett and White Construction Co. Ltd., Vancouver, $293,132 for a standard medium drill hall; Baynes Manning Ltd., Vancouver, $155,305 for rifle ranges and Timbersteel Structures Ltd., $118,281 for a tank hangar.

Milk Industry Hard Hit By Price Boost

The staggering milk industry received another blow over the weekend, according to Henry Robinson, secretary of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association.

Dairy feed increased $4 a ton to $79, and oats increased $6 a ton to $76. Dairy feed has jumped $7 a ton since the milk board hearings in August and oats $13 a ton.

The increase will be one of many subjects discussed at the association's annual meeting later this week at Duncan.

Meanwhile it is announced the milk board has opened an office at Room 131, Douglas Building, A. E. Webb, Vancouver Island milk inspector, is in charge. It is the first time the board has had an office here.

Quebec Show Unofficially Opens Here

Greater Victoria Art Centre will open unofficially at 11 Tuesday morning with an exhibit of contemporary Quebec art.

Work is progressing on alteration and redecoration of the former Spencer home at 1040 Moss, but official opening will not be until sometime in the new year, according to Collin Graham, curator.

Some 40 pictures will be shown in the Quebec display, along with about six old masters. Included in the latter group is a portrait of the second Viscountess Churchill and another of Charles II, both by the English artist, Sir Peter Lely.

Hon. Mark Kearley, who helped organize Victoria's first public gallery, has sent a picture from his father's collection for the display.

Officials of the art centre and other volunteer workers are carrying out redecoration. New lighting will be installed within the next three days, the curator said.

More than 1,000 persons attended the convention.

Early Action Sought On Bridge Surfacing

Climbing Accident Rate Gets Boost From Slippery Johnson Street Span

By ROY THORSEN

When is the city public works department going to eliminate the traffic hazard on Johnson Street Bridge?

The question is in the minds of city police and the motorist public.

It was learned today that police over many months have repeatedly asked that a non-skid surface be put on the bridge.

A major menace on the far bridge span are two old street car tracks close to the centre. Police would like to see the bridge covered by steel mats with a corrugated design. It is understood funds were made available early in the year for the work.

So far this year 12 chain accidents have occurred on the bridge. One person was injured, but in some cases vehicle damage has reached as high as $500.

ROUND-ABOUT ACCIDENTS
A check of the city police traffic section accident "scoreboard" brings up a question as to whether the Hillside-Quadra Roundabout has reduced the accident rate in that sector.

The board shows that 31 accidents have occurred in the circle this year and eight persons were injured in the crashes.

ACCIDENT RATE CLIMBS
With December classed as one of the highest accident-rate months of the year, it is likely last year's total of 237 accidents attended by police will be exceeded by the end of this year. The total now is 700.

TIDY SHIP

Pinafore Ready For Voyage

The good ship H.M.S. Pinafore is ready to sail.

The 65 Victorians who are taking part in the famous Gilbert and Sullivan musical tale of life in the 1880s went through their final work-up exercise at a dress rehearsal at Royal Theatre Sunday afternoon. The whole troupe displayed high spirits and eagerness to begin the three-day run of the opera Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The production is the seventh presented by the Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society under sponsorship of the Gyro Club. H.M.S. Pinafore was actually the first production of the society in 1946. The new presentation is by popular demand.

Col. Victor Mills is director of the show and Harry Bigsby is conductor of the 15-piece orchestra, recruited from the ranks of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra.

Members of the society began rehearsals in September. They have held practices three nights a week.

Those taking featured roles in the show are: Alan Robertson, as Sir Joseph Porter, First Lord of the Admiralty; William Lugin Pahey, as Capt. Corcoran; Dorothy Kenwood Smith, as Josephine; Bernice Fawcett Irwin, as Hebe; Ivan Howell, Dick Deadey; John Boel, Ralph Rackshaw; Mildred Allen, Little Buttercup; Myron Balagno, Bob Beckett; Jimmy Mead-Robins, as the boatsman, and Gwynedd Hughes, as the midshipman.

Costumes for the production have been obtained from Malla-bar Costumers of Winnipeg.

The stage-setting, depicting the deck of Pinafore, was constructed by members of the cast and painted by Dolly Jones.

Tickets for the show can be obtained at Royal Theatre box office. Proceeds will be used by Gyro charities.

SCHOOL BOARD HEAD LEAVING POST OPEN

Maj. R. H. Green, chairman of Greater Victoria School Board for the past three years, and on the board for 10, announced today he would not seek re-election in December.

His term expires this year. Maj. Green served four years with the old Victoria city school board, and the past six on the Greater Victoria board.

In announcing his retirement, he said he felt it was time for others to seek service on the board.

On the aldermanic scene, Ald. Millard Moorey announced he would seek re-election for a two-year term rather than run for mayor. It was reported earlier that he had been approached to enter the mayoralty contest.

"I have served on council only one year and do not feel I have sufficient experience," said Moorey.

In the meantime, J. E. Neely, retiring police commissioner, and J. Donald Smith, immediate past president of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, have added their names to the aldermanic contest.

Neely and Smith will run for the two one-year terms left vacant by Ald. Aubrey Kent and Ald. J. D. Hunter, both of whom are contesting the mayoralty.

Old Shipbuilders' Union Rejoins A.F.L. Organization

Local 238, Victoria Federal Shipyard Workers' Union (T.L.C.), went out of existence Sunday and Local 491, International Union of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders, Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers and Helpers (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) took its place.

The change came at a boiler-makers' union meeting. The new international charter was presented by Harry Gomm, international vice-president from Winnipeg. James Downey, international business agent, from Vancouver, was also present.

Victoria boiler-makers were organized as an international union in 1898 and functioned as such until 1930 when the union switched its affiliation to the Canadian Congress of Labor. The boiler-makers' union here was a C.C.L. body until Sept. 1946, when it changed again to become a federal union of the T.L.C.

The move back to the A.F.L.-T.L.C. international was brought about largely because of aid and support given by that body during the recent boiler-makers' strike against local shipyards.

Officers of Local 238 will carry on as officers of Local 491.

Pick Up Your Spirits
With Modern Cosmetics

By PENNY SAVER

Hey Mom! How about something luxurious for yourself? Cosmetic counters are just brimming over with new make-up to pick up your spirits on drab "everything-wrong" days. Indelible lipsticks are available in all sorts of shades. One hundred pennies puts one on your dresser.

Make-up foundation comes in any form you choose—powder, cake, cream or liquid. Latest on the market is a non-waxy liquid that does wonders for your complexion. In tones to match your skin or clear, the cost is $2.75.

Does your lunch-totin' family ever complain of cold beverages in their lunch pails? Try a rubber stopper instead of the conventional cork. This gadget is pushed into the neck of the thermos then a small lever on top pulls over and completely seals the contents and keeps them the right temperature for hours. These are only 35 cents.

Did you know that plastic boxes complete with lids are in the stores to keep sandwiches, pie and cake fresh? The round, square and triangular styles made to fit snugly into lunch pails run from 29 cents.

A friend of mine received a present the other day with the inscription "This is to remind you of me."

That sounds very nice but know what was in same package? Worms!

Oh, it's not as bad as all that. They're made of china. The larger one is about one and a half inches high and has a devilish expression. These are priced at 45 cents and the smaller ones 25 cents.

Miniatures are definitely coming into their own. Spry little monkeys and their offspring, minute mice, gentle lambs and canines of every breed imaginable are yours for as little as 25 pennies.

After innumerable nylons were snagged on splinters and such in my drawer I finally discovered the answer. Plastic hosiery bags! These are made of quilted plastic with sections to hold six pairs of stockings. They fold up to tuck in a corner of your drawer or even in a suitcase to make them the ideal rig for traveling.

Along the same lines are combination lingerie and hosiery containers. Stocking-holders only range from 49 cents and the others, $1.45.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It's Easier To Stay Thin Than Lose Extra Pounds

When you indulge in tidbits or desserts, don't go haywire!

Childbirth and dieting are similar in that women soon forget the pain of both delivery and calorie counting and go right ahead again having babies and eating fattening foods.

Once a woman disciplines herself to the extent of losing 10 to 20 pounds or more, it does seem too bad to enjoy the lovely new figure for such a short time before building the bulges and the thick waist again.

Many women write wanting to know just how they can keep the happy new proportions and weight after they have them. A little individual experimentation is in order. Add about 500 calories to your daily intake. Watch the scales and see what happens. If you continue to lose add another 200 or 300 until you find the spot at which you hold your correct poundage. If you begin to gain cut back.

It's a dreary prospect for most women to feel that they can never again indulge in some of those luscious things and still remain slim. This is not entirely true. As a regular habit you will have to leave them off, but you can enjoy them once in a while. General eating habits count.

However, when you do indulge in tidbits and desserts do not go haywire! Do it only once in a while and then not with too large helpings. It is much easier to gain those pounds back than it is to lose them. Remember?

The scientifically planned reducing diet is a splendid one to use as a frame because the tenets of health have been carefully considered in its planning. Actually all of us would be much better off if our diets had few rich items and more proteins, fruits, vegetables and milk.

I have had so many requests for help in keeping the lovely new figure that I wrote a leaflet which gives you directions and also detailed menus for six days. If you would like to have it send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 71, "Hold That Line!" Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Suffocating "Hot Flashes" stopped

or strikingly relieved—in doctors' tests!

* Are you going through "change of life"—suffering the "hot flashes," nervous tension, irritability, weakness and other types of functionally-caused distress of this difficult time?

Then...here's hope for you. In tests by doctors—on their own patients—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave relief from such distress. Complete or striking relief! In case after case!

Surely you know that Lydia Pinkham's is scientifically modern in action! Surely you know what it has done for others!

But do you know what it will do for you? Not if you haven't experienced the relief of tension, "flashes" and irritability it so often brings at such times!

NOTE: Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is grand, too, for the functional pains, cramps, and "weak" feelings of menstruation! Millions of younger women, and girls, use it for this purpose! It strikes directly at the cause of menstrual distress!

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

"Who is Pat Nicholson?" The question was flung at me the minute I stepped into the friendly living room at the home of the Robertson sisters, Kate, Margaret and Nell, in Duncan, one evening last week.

"This Pat Nicholson is a newspaper woman, so you should know her," said Vi Harris. "She was here with the Royal tour," chimed in Agnes Jaughin, "and she wrote up Duncan in the Boston Daily Globe."

Dora Payne added, "and wait until you see what she wrote about us." There was a hurried scramble for the Cowichan Leader, Duncan's weekly newspaper. "Read it!" the group shouted.

It seems that Mrs. E. M. Thorburn and her daughter, Mrs. Don Butt, both of Duncan, were spending a month's holiday with relatives in Boston when the account of the Royal visit to the island city appeared in the Boston Globe. They brought a copy back for the home newspaper.

Under the heading, "Paul Revere's Ride," Miss Pat Nicholson wrote:

"Immediately upon the news coming that the royal cavalcade would pass through the town of Duncan, a Paul Revere-warning type of ride was staged there, according to bulletins sent back by members of the royal staff to newsmen who are remaining here.

"Indian tom-toms echoed their summons through the villages of the Cowichan Tribe, a loudspeaker mounted on a car called out the townsfolk, and telephone operators spread the news to distant lumber camps and farms.

"In less than three hours colorfully clad lumberjacks and hundreds of red Indians came pouring down from the hills on the town and backed up that boast with the highest proportionate enlistments and purchases of war bonds in two world wars, gave a royal welcome to the royal couple when they drove slowly through.

"Philip steered right down the centre of the road while he and the Princess returned our waves," commented Jessie MacDonald, who had hustled 30 minutes from her farm to catch a glimpse of Elizabeth and her handsome husband. "He is the best one-handed driver I have ever seen."

"There was a lot more of the same type of thing," Vi said, "but it didn't get into the Leader."

"Worst of it is that when the tourists begin coming again next year they are going to insist that we produce some red Indians with their tom-toms," wailed Dora.

"And what are we going to do then?"

Sun Shone For Holiday Week

You must have kept your fingers crossed:

The weather last week was perfect. Every day of it. Up-Island—where I spent the whole week—the sun shone and there was blue skies. A bit nippy at night for there was fresh snow on the mountains and heavy frosts down in the towns. Coming along Cameron Lake there was even a dusting of snow on the side hills.

Trees and shrubs from Victoria to Port Alberni and Courtenay were bright with autumn colors, deep russet browns and bright yellows.

November isn't such a bad holiday month, after all!

Of Irish descent, the author, a born story teller, has traveled over most of Canada during her writing career. She has written several books, including "Ploving the Arctic," the story of the R.C.M.P. ship St. Roche and her intrepid captain, H. A. Larsen.

New Yorker Married In Candlelight Ceremony At First United Church

Soft glow of candlelight gave an added aura of beauty to the delicate tones of ice-blue shimmering satin which fell in graceful lines to create the exquisite bridal gown worn by Joan Carolyn McCarthy, Queen's Village, N.Y., when she was united in marriage with William Embrey, Kelowna, B.C., Saturday evening in First United Church.

The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Mair A. J. Waters, and at a reception in the Tudor Grill, Empress Hotel, Henry A. Frey, Seattle, proposed a toast to the daughter of Mr. James H. McCarthy, Queen's Village, Long Island, N.Y. The groom is the son of Mrs. W. M. Neil, Albert Head Road, Metochin.

Of lustrous ice-blue satin, the bridal gown was enriched with a short delicate lace jacket which fitted over a sheath bodice accented with soft tucking. A natural flare enhanced the ballerina length crinolined skirt. The bride wore a diamond lavalier which belonged to her mother. In perfect harmony with the classical lines of her ensemble was the cloche satin cap on her dark hair.

Mrs. R. P. Walrod, Kelowna, matron of honor chose an attractive gown and carried a bouquet of autumn flowers.

Mr. Walrod was best man, and Leonard Arnold and Gordon Keddie were ushers.

A traditional European custom of candles made by a member of the family was a highlight in the decoration at the reception. Great artistic candles complemented the arrangements of fall flowers.

For their honeymoon the newlyweds will motor through the United States, then travel to Kelowna, where they will make their home.

Viola Wain, R. Loughney Wed Saturday In Oak Bay

Rev. W. W. MacPherson read the nuptial service, Saturday evening in Oak Bay United Church, for Viola Adelaide Wain and Roger R. Loughney.

Effortless chrysanthemums decorated the church for the marriage of the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Main, 1211 Montrose Avenue, and son of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. Loughney, Victoria.

T. Beresford was at the organ and Mrs. J. Blyth, Mill Bay, sang "Through the Years."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of nylon lace and net in alternate tiers, slightly en train, and long sleeved lace jacket. Her floor-length veil of illusion edged with lace, was caught to a coronet of orange blossoms and she had a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and apricot-tinted roses.

Mrs. J. Crosby, matron of honor, and Miss Lorraine Welsh, bridesmaid, wore apple green and dusty-pink, respectively. Their gowns were similarly styled in nylon net over taffeta, ballerina length and short capes.

Tiara headdress of feathered chrysanthemums matched the blooms in their bouquets.

Mr. John Turner was groomsmen and ushers were Mr. Joseph Crosby and Mr. Robert Scott.

Norway House was the scene of the reception. Rosebuds topped

ROSES MARK MANY MEMORIES

It takes 1,000 roses to see a woman through the high points of her life.

So say the people who grow roses—and it seems unlikely that any woman will argue with them, or that many men will dare.

The 1,000-rose theme is a feature of the rose show at the current Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, and thousands of women eye the exhibit wistfully, noting on what occasions the boyfriend or husband has fallen down.

The displayed bouquets start out with birth: "I shared my first roses with mother"; mark the phases of growing up, until: "Bob finally said it with roses"; go along through the anniversaries to: "My daughter sent me roses on her own birthday and I wept"; until: "Fifty golden years of happiness."

It's an advertising gimmick, if you will, but it's packed with sentiment. Also, it's big business.

Card party—At a recent meeting of Victoria sub-division of the Catholic Women's League, plans were made for a card party Nov. 29 in the parish hall. Mrs. H. Hartnell presided and convener's reports were made. A movie was shown during intermission.

BEDTIME STORY

by Thornton W. Burgess

It was a lovely evening at the pond of Paddy the Beaver deep in the Green Forest. Mistress Moon was looking down from high up in the sky. Not a single little Night Breeze rippled the water. All were asleep.

In the midst of the Black Shadows gathered at the lower end of that little pond stood Mrs. Lightfoot the Deer and her twins. They were big for their age, but in knowledge of the Great World they had much, very much, yet to learn. They were learning fast. To them, this seemingly peaceful evening was the most exciting evening of their short lives.

For one thing they were seeing great big Buster Bear for the first time. Just seeing him gave them little shivers of excitement and fear. Mother had told them that there was nothing to be afraid of if they kept out of reach of Buster Bear; that he wouldn't waste his time trying to catch them by chasing them, for he knew that a deer's legs are better for running than are the legs of any bear.

Until they saw Buster Bear, their father, Lightfoot, was the biggest person they had ever seen. Every time they looked at him their eyes shone with admiration. They were sure that he couldn't possibly be afraid of anyone. They said this to each other. When he was around they kept at a respectful distance, but they followed him about whenever they could. This evening as they watched Buster Bear, they wondered what would happen if he should meet Buster Bear.

But Lightfoot wasn't around just then and they soon forgot about him as they watched Buster Bear. He had just tried to rob his much smaller cousin, Bobby Coon, of a fish. Bobby had been too quick for him, climbing a tree that wasn't big enough for his big cousin to climb, and wasn't small enough for him to break down. Now Buster was slowly shuffling along at the edge of the water in their direction.

Buster was half way to where they were standing in the Black Shadows when he abruptly stopped. He was both looking and listening. Somewhere back among the trees a stick snapped. Another stick snapped as if someone had stepped on it and broken it. Buster dropped to all fours and stood looking in the direction of that sound. A moment later, out from the Black Shadows into the moonlight, stepped someone so big that the twins caught their breath.

"Your big cousin," whispered mother.

R.C. Cardinals Rap Morals In Public Life

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Roman Catholic cardinals, archbishops and bishops in the United States declared Saturday that "moral corruption" in public life threatens the country with the same decay that befell the Roman empire.

The churchmen, in a statement concluding their three-day annual meeting, roundly condemned the principle that "anything goes" in politics, asserting that an official who profits dishonestly from his post is no better than a common thief.

The bishops' statement said the problems besetting the free world today are much like those which confronted the Roman empire—barbarism on the outside, refined materialism and moral decay within.

By "barbarism," the churchmen plainly referred to Communism, which they often have condemned in the past. They went on to say, however:

"The Roman empire disintegrated from within; and moral corruption was the main cause of its decline and disappearance. The same fate will befall us if we do not awaken to the danger which threatens from within our own household."

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

Conservative Leader Praises Hungarians

CALGARY, Nov. 19 (CP)—Praising Hungary as one of the oldest of the democratic countries in Europe, George Drew, leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, told members of the Hungarian Canadian Club here Saturday night that they can do a great service to Canada.

Speaking at a banquet in the Hungarian Canadian headquarters, Mr. Drew said they should tell Canadians of the doctrine of Communist aggression by imperialist Russia which is trying to destroy freedom as it is known in Canada.

Hungary, he said, had been an island of freedom in central Europe ever since the signing of the Golden Bull in 1222, which was just seven years after the Magna Carta was signed in England. The Golden Bull was a declaration of freedom, signed in Budapest, which carried forward the idea of an elected government.

"You people know what it is to lose these rights," stated Mr.
Drew, "and I think you can give a great service in Canada by telling what it really means to lose freedom and what it means to be under the yoke of a Communist government."

More than 100,000 Hungarians are in Russian prison camps, he said, and more than 100,000 Hungarians have been murdered. But there are more than 100,000 Hungarians in Canada to tell of these things.

"It is not enough for us to hold the iron curtain," Mr. Drew continued, "but we must see that the 1945 declaration of the United Nations is carried out and see that every nation has a right to decide how it will be governed.
This goes for the Ukraine, Rumania,
Bulgaria, Poland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, and every country which has been enslaved
by Russia."

"Hungary has stood as a bulwark of freedom in the past, and will stand again as a bulwark against a threatening power from the East."

He said he believed we should not allow a single Communist organization to preach Communist propaganda in Canada.

M.P.'s Briefed On Doukhobor Re-Location

Prof. Geoffrey Andrews, vice-chairman of the special consultative committee on B.C.'s Doukhobor problem, has had "satisfactory talks" in Ottawa with Justice Minister Stuart Garson
on the re-location of Doukhobors and their future rehabilitation.

Attorney-General Gordon Wis-mer made the announcement prior to his departure on the week-end for a six-weeks trip to Europe.

He said Prof. Andrews, at his request, interviewed Mr. Garson and B.C. members of the House
"to bring them up to date on the facts of the problem and also the views of the committee."

"The committee is proceeding with the formulation of plans," Wismer said. "It will, of course, be impossible to secure approval from either government until they are finalized. This may take some time, as the situation regarding Adams Lake indicates."

Wismer thought the committee is doing effective work and in due course a satisfactory solution will be reached.

FIVE U.S. BASKETBALL PLAYERS GO TO JAIL

Cut In Council Battle Pressed

MacMillan Still Persistent For Referendum's Approval

Victoria aldermen will be asked to vote on a referendum to reduce size of City Council from 10 to eight at their first meeting Tuesday.

Ald. Robert Macmillan today filed a notice of motion calling for reduction and asking that the solicitor be instructed to draw up a by-law to give citizens an opportunity to vote on the issue at the Dec. 13 civic election.

He said his motion was in the spirit of compromise. A motion two weeks ago failed by an 8-2 vote. Ald. Aubrey Kent said he favored reduction to eight but wanted council to decide first and have a set figure placed in the by-law. The original motion carried, no figure, and Ald. Waldo Skillings was Macmillan's sole support.

"I will ask for a recorded vote," Macmillan said. A mayoral candidate, Ald. Kent told an election meeting last week he would favor reduction to eight. Ald. J. D. Hunter, another mayoral candidate said he was opposed to a reduced council at the present time but later

Ridgway's Staff Engaged In Analyzing Controversial Release Of P.O.W. Killings

TOKYO, Nov. 19 (UP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's staff was reported revising downward today an Eighth Army report that the Communists have murdered 13,400 United Nations' war prisoners, including 6,270 Americans.

The revised report was expected to be sent to Washington for approval before being released. Official sources said the original statement was based in part on "unscientific" evidence. "It has not been decided whether the new report will be released here or in Washington, or at both points simultaneously," a spokesman for Ridgway's supreme headquarters said.

New Englander Thinks 'Cyr' His Son Maybe

Suggestion that the Royal Canadian Navy's fabulous mystery doctor might be an American came today as Naval Headquarters, Ottawa, was preparing to announce results of its Esquimaux inquiry on the man who entered the navy as Dr. Joseph Cyr.

Ferdinand De Mara of Lawrence, Mass., told British United Press today he believes "Cyr" to be his son.

DeMara said his son came to the West Coast in his early 20's and taught school in Washington State and then returned to Massachusetts, where he enrolled as a student at Purdue University. He said his son was now 29.

A part-time movie projectionist, DeMara said he was so sure the mystery man was his son that he was coming to Canada to help him out of his present difficulties.

DeMara said his son went to high school in Lawrence but quit at age 14 to enter a Rhode Island monastery. He stayed there one year and then returned home. "We just didn't seem to exist in his world," said the father.

From the navy's point of view the mystery doctor is simply a man who got allegedly into the service under false pretenses and who must, therefore, be discharged.

FINAL BULLETINS

Third Man Held For Theft

Three young men have been arrested and charged in connection with investigations into recent shop-breaking cases. Already charged by city police are Edward Minnie and Douglas Stanley Turner. Arrested this afternoon was Eric A. Rob.

Victorian Draws Jail Term

OTTAWA, Nov. 19 (CP)—Wilson M. Iverson, 38, of Victoria, was sentenced today to 10 months definite and three months indeterminate on each of two charges of false pretenses.

Bevens, Rossi Up To Majors

Floyd Bevens, former New York Yankee pitching ace, who compiled a 20-12 mark for Salem Senators last year was the lone Western International League player picked in today's major-league draft. However, two ex-W.I.L. stars, catcher Joe Rossi of Portland Beavers and outfielder George Schmees of Montreal who played with Hollywood last summer, were included. Rossi hit .304 for Portland while Schmees batted .328 for the Stars.

Hillbilly A.W.O.L. From U.S. Army

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUNDS, Md., Nov. 19 (UP)—Recruit Peter Grainger, the New Mexican mountaineer who astounded army authorities with a high intelligence test score when he enlisted several weeks ago, was listed as A.W.O.L. here today.

New Series Of A-Bomb Blasts

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 19 (AP)—The first in a new series of atomic detonations went off at the Yucca Flat test site today.

A flash was visible in Las Vegas, 75 miles from the test site.

But this time there was no immediate formation of the customary atomic cloud visible here.

Master Briber Given 8-16 Year Jail Term

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—Charging that an "evil system of commercialism" has corrupted college sports programs, Judge Saul Streit today sentenced five former basketball players and a master briber to jail.

He suspended sentence on nine players.

Gambler Salvatore Sollazzo, who lured and bribed players on a lavish scale to rig game scores, received an eight to 16-year prison term for bribery.

Edward Gard, former Long Island University player who plotted with Sollazzo to fix games, drew an indeterminate term of up to three years for conspiracy.

A one-year penalty was given Sherman White, former L.I.U. star, and six months each to Edward Warner and Alvin Roth, of City College of New York, and Harvey (Connie) Schaff, of New York University.

PICTURES FOOTBALL

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—A general sessions judge today pictured some of the nation's top football powers as million-dollar businesses that recruit players far and wide.

Judge Samuel S. Streit, blaming over-emphasis on collegiate sports for the current basketball bribe scandal said:

"At Oklahoma, one of the football players in his senior year was taking introduction to geography and loaded his program with theories of basketball, swimming, games and volleyball."

"The University of Texas grants 100 athletic scholarships a year."

"Texas A. and M. awards 120 athletic scholarships a year."

"Southern Methodist University awards 154 athletic scholarships."

Judge Streit said the University of Pennsylvania made a $161,000 profit on its football team last year.

The University of Kentucky grossed over $1,200,000, he said, and Tennessee grossed $1,347,000 while spending $250,000 a year on gas users in the states of Washington and Oregon as well as his own company in giving evidence before the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board.

"The present gas reserves in Alberta make it unlikely that a sufficient exportable surplus exists at this stage to accommodate the requirements of gas for east and west," he said.

See "Seattle Signs Up for Natural Gas," page 17.

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS?

Lads Injured On Hallowe'en Still In Hospital

At St. Joseph's Hospital, 13-year-old Larry Todd, left, and 14-year-old Ron Steele are getting to be bosom pals. They've been occupying a second-floor room at the hospital ever since Hallowe'en when both were brought in, seriously burned in firecracker mishaps. Larry and Ron were strangers to one another the night they arrived at the hospital with severe leg burns, but in the long weeks since then they've become real chums. "All we hope now is that we'll get out before Christmas," says Larry, the more seriously burned of the two, who will undergo skin
